Summer Springboard is recruiting an innovative and dynamic individual to design and deliver a hands-on course in Architecture for our pre-college summer programs for high school students. The curriculum is yours to create and facilitate. We have a few caveats: namely that we want our students to master all the steps of building a structure - from strategic ideation to the finished product. We want our students to gain tangible skills as they design buildings, select materials, and analyze the sustainability impact of such buildings by performing hands-on design simulations. The curriculum must culminate in a final portfolio project in which students will present their hand drawings and digital scale models at the end of their two-week session.

You will deliver the course in-person for the 2-week sessions from 9am-12pm daily (M-F only) at UC Berkeley. Instruction at Georgetown will occur 9am-12pm daily (Tue-Fri week one, Mon-Fri week two). The exact number of sessions per campus will vary. Please contact us for specific session dates at each campus.

Who are we? Summer Springboard was founded to give college-bound teens a supportive environment where they can explore their personal and academic passions. Our innovative pre-college summer programs, offered at some of the nation's leading colleges and universities, combines the benefits of an academically challenging summer experience with tools and frameworks for personal leadership development and self-discovery. We're a division of Terra Education, a mission-driven Certified B-Corporation and are headquartered in San Diego, CA.

Compensation: Competitive Stipend, Daily parking

Interested? If you're interested in sharing your talents and having an impact on the lives of motivated young people, please apply here.
